

A/B TESTING

21 participants are shown pairs of video advertisements and asked to provide feedback on each pair. The purpose is to gather insights on which advertisement version performs better based on viewer feedback. This information helps us refine our strategies and create more effective content for the video concepts.

Gen Z

- Prefers unconventional and creative content that stands out.
- Values content that sparks curiosity and leaves room for exploration.
- Shows a tendency to skip ads quickly if the initial 2 seconds fail to engage.
- Relates well to content that is relatable and speaks to their experiences.

Millennial

- Dislike overwhelming or aggressive content that feels too pushy.
- Prefer video content with smooth transitions and a steady pace, avoiding abrupt changes.
- Appreciate direct and straightforward messaging that gets to the point efficiently.
- Values content showcasing real user experiences.

Homeowner/Gen X

- Prefer content that provides a behind-the-scenes look or step-by-step guides.
- Dislikes intense transitions or flashy camera movements.
- Value simplicity and directness in content delivery, avoiding unnecessary complexity.
- Show interest in content that focuses on practical aspects and offers actionable insights or tips related to their interests or needs.
